The Ladies' League Becoming Troublesome.

Interesting Items.

Dublin, 3.—Dublin Castle is at its wits' end regarding the Ladies' Land League. The branches all over the country are suppressed, and yet the law officers here can find no grounds on which to deal with the central executive, which met again this afternoon quite openly in the old offices of the League. Miss Parnell presided, and among those present was Miss Helen Taylor, a member of the London school board, who came over to throw in her lot with Miss Parnell and her assistants. Miss Taylor said that every Englishman and Englishwoman who had the smallest respect for constitutional liberty, was morally bound to enter the strongest protest against the ladies, who were now disgracing England in Ireland. She almost felt as if those who were born in Ireland the names of Englishman must be just ground for hatred and contempt. She could assure them that there were thousands of people in England, and that there would, before long, be millions, who would make their voices heard unanswerably in protest against its iniquities. She hoped that punishment would soon fall on those who were opposing Ireland. She did not now speak of political oppression, but of the state of things in which young girls, old women and blind boys were put to death by the bayonet thrusts of the police, without a shadow of excuse. There was not power in England to put individuals into prison for denouncing Gladstone as a wicked, unscrupulous and cruel man. Miss Taylor had the honor of being appointed a member of Miss Parnell's organization or society, which devotes itself to the care of the families of prisoners arrested for political reasons under the coercion act, and which eases the prisoners themselves. A good deal of jubilation exists in League quarters at the result of the municipal election in the great Irish centres of England on Tuesday. Yesterday a party of farmers assembled and held a hunting party that they would not allow them to pursue their sport over their farms. Many gentlemen left the field and the hounds were taken back to their kennels.

London, 4.—There is some reason to believe the Irish government had information of serious designs of a determination to provoke risings throughout the country before the progress of the land act had time to create a better feeling among the people. Government, however, was well prepared.

The police of Blackburn threatened the lessee of a hall with the loss of his license if he permitted a Land League meeting at which Miss Anna Parnell was to speak.

Forster, chief secretary of Ireland, comes to London for the approaching cabinet council.

Archbishop Croke, of Cashel, replying to an address of Brannan Land League, advised the tenants to tender fair rent, and if refused the fault would not be theirs. It would show the Irish can, for their country's sake, endure insults and injuries. He declared government had established a reign of terror.

The Canal.

New York, 3.—Herald's Washington: The recent letter by Secretary Blaine on the Panama Canal and the discussion incident to it, suggest a retrospect which reveals some interesting facts. The question of an international canal, and the reiteration of the Monroe doctrine, was first acted on in a resolution passed by the House of Representatives, on March 3d, 1881. The resolution appointing a select committee for the consideration of the subject was brought forward by Floyd King, of Louisiana, and was passed on the 16th of December, 1879. King, as chairman of the committee, then prepared a report and resolution reaffirming the Monroe doctrine, which goes further than the letter of Blaine in asserting that "whatever the nationality of the corporations of the canal, or of the source of their capital, that the interest of the United States, and their rights to possess and control said canal or other artificial communication, will be asserted and maintained whenever in their opinion it shall become necessary." King's action in this matter, sketched the mercantile character and significance of the canal and the interest of England in controlling it as a key to the commerce of the western world, which, if held by her, would give her power to lay the commerce of the world under tribute. That Beaconsfield at that time had conceived the idea of seizing the point as a supplementary move to the Suez Canal cannot be doubted. Blaine's statement of the case omits another feature discussed at that time as a necessary factor in the political relations between this country and the states of Columbia. This is the possibility of a railroad through the isthmus connecting North and South America.

The Fire Record.

New York, 4.—The government record shows 133 fires throughout the country, from which the loss has not been less than $10,000, ranking from that sum as the minimum to a maximum of $125,000, this last being the reasonable estimate of the loss at the Fourth avenue fire, this city. The aggregate loss by these 133 fires footed up $7,250,000, with an insurance loss of $3,353,000 to $3,500,000. Allowing $1,000,000 for losses by fires at which less than $10,000 was sustained, gives a total of $3,250,000 as the approximate loss by fire in October, which exceeds anything reported in any October since the great Chicago fire in '74. Few of our most experienced underwriters will hesitate to admit that both in number and costliness the fires of 1881, particularly during the past four months, have been quite exceptional; that not many companies are likely to come out ahead in the year's transactions, and a majority will show a loss for the year.

San Francisco, 4.—Portland dispatch: Douglas County Jail, at Roseburg, was burned this morning, and while it burned, Williams, incarcerated the day before for larceny, is supposed that he undertook to burn his way out, and the fire became unmanageable.

Casualties.

London, 3.—The Norwegian bark Terze, from Antwerp for Philadelphia, had the captain killed and three men severely injured during a gale.
